The nonprofit VIA Art Fund has announced the recipients of its most recent grants, totaling $190,000. Four projects are being recognized: Jenny Holzer's upcoming semi-permanent installation at MASS MoCA, Robin Rhode's operatic commission for Performa 15, an upcoming show at the Underground Museum in Los Angeles, and a new site-specific outdoor sculpture for the 2016 season of High Line Art in New York.

Since its founding in 2013, VIA has awarded nearly $1.25 million in grants to twenty-five individuals and organizations. It was established by Bridgitt Evans and Lisa Schiff to bring together the support of US-based arts patrons.
